

Today, Paris Déco Off creators are quenching our thirst for nature, light and colour. During this month of June, they are offering us bouquets of flowers, a profusion of poetic patterns and feel-good hues.

Lelièvre Paris presents its new fabrics, wallpapers, and home accessories collection for Jean Paul Gaultier...

This time the influences are taken from the pop universe, where the fortune teller and the work of the macrame makers blend naturally into magical landscapes of floral opulence and the third dimension and other graphic waves. The introduction of the first two outdoor fabrics continue the mix of playing with nature... still with a nod to the influence of pop and even rock...

With Grand Angle, Nobilis revives one of its iconic themes with this signature collection of contemporary panoramic wallpapers. Abstract and dream-like landscapes combined with figurative motifs, large "arty" drawings and precious patines. The House's famous PBS wallcovering is used to create a large scale marquetry, with 3 varieties of wood. Revisit grasscloths adorned with a classic drawings and a collage using its 'Raku' design wallpaper to form a Japanese moor.

With this large collection, Nobilis combines classic and contemporary designs, with audacity and refinement

The new (and third) collection born from the collaboration between Jannelli&Volpi and Missoni, proposes wallpaper presenting new patterns inspired by nature, side by side with the iconic designs of Missoni, within the brand's signature color pallet, which brings out the combination of classic and modern taste of the collection. 'Palenque' graphics offers impressionistic brush strokes. Its varied lengths, and widths bring this patchwork with its warp and weft to life, in a varied range of colors with greens, blues, greys and ochre.
